IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
3 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.
4 And God saw the light, and God divided the light from the darkness.
5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness Night.
6 And God set firmaments in the midst of the waters, and he divided the waters which were above the firmament from the waters which were below the firmament: and he called the firmament Heaven.
7 And God made the sun, and the moon, and the stars, and to rule over the day and the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.
8 And God said, Let the waters bring forth grass, the herb that yieldeth seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit whose seed is in itself: and it was so.
9 And God called the green grass, the herb that yieldeth seed, and the fruit tree, which beareth fruit whose seed is in itself, Green Grass, and the fruit tree which beareth fruit whose seed is in itself, Green Grass, and the fruit tree which beareth fruit whose seed is in itself.
10 And God called the gathering together of the waters Seas, and he called the dry land Earth, and the high places of the earth Mountains.
11 And God said, Let the Earth bring forth living creatures after their kind, cattle of the earth, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every beast that hath life, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.
12 And the evening and the morning were the third day.
